Raini Rodriguez is so sweet and funny in real life. I love her!

going to get pictures and posters of these guys that you will never, ever, see in any other magazine in the United States. I promise! Oh, and don't be bummed if your fave 1D guy didn't get a giant poster this time. We'll be putting lots of single posters in Tiger Beat and BOP. This is just a taste. See you!

Leesa!

from the EDITOR

Hi there! If you're reading this, you've already seen some of our amazing One Direction coverage, starting with reporter Megan's trip to New York City, where she got to hang out with Harry, Niall, Louis, Zayn and Liam the day before their album Up All Night came out. She said the guys were totally happy and devoted to their fans. Megan followed 1D to an album signing, where the guys signed 1,500 albums. They were high-fiving fans the entire time and got black Sharpie marks all over their arms. They didn't complain once about hand cramps. Just like you can count on One Direction to make you happy, you can count on Tiger Beat to bring you the most and best information about the band. And did you know BOP magazine is our sister magazine? If you need more exclusive news and photos of One Direction, you can get it in the new issue of BOP. In the coming months, you are

LETTERS to the editor

Dear Tiger Beat,
I love everything in your magazine: The giant posters, the articles, the quizzes and the contests. I love reading about 1D and my faves were "Hot Gossip" and the "Olivia's Secret Life" story in the April 2012 issue!

— Rachel, WA

Dear Tiger Beat,
I love Tiger Beat magazine. April 2012 is one of my favorite issues so far! I think it's because we get to see a lot more of One Direction. Thank you.

— Eileen & Joyce,
Canada

Dear Tiger Beat,
Thank you so much for writing about how to get Bella's manicure. I always love her pretty nails but didn't know how she gets them to look so pretty. I'm going to try it myself.

“Get our

ATTEN

Carlos

“If someone wants to get my attention in the audience, they basically just have to be singing our songs loud. I pay attention to everybody, but the people who really catch my attention are the ones who know all the words, the ones who are just so into it. I love seeing that.”

James

“When I’m onstage I can’t always see the audience, but when you’re being blinded with light we can see you. So if you want to get my attention for a wave or a hi or a smile, just scream and wave. A huge smile, too — I usually see that first. I’ll see that in the audience and wave and smile back at you.”

ATION at a concert!"

The Big Time Rush hotties explain what Tiger Beat readers can do to snag a smile, wink or hand grab from them at their concert.

"You know what? Just have a good time. The more energy you have, I pick up on. But I will say, sometimes you do notice the person who's not doing anything at all, which is kind of like, 'Come on, stand up and have fun!' But if you're going crazy and having a great time, I'll be sure to see you, and I'll wave back."

Logan

"If you're smiling, singing and having a good time, that's what I enjoy. It's what I'm doing as well, so yeah, that gets my attention."

"I Love my mom because..."

With Mother's Day just around the corner, Victoria Justice and the stars of Victorious spill only to us why they love their mothers.

"I love my mom because she's kind and accepting — the type of person you want to have around. She's also my number one fan. I ask her for advice on everything, from my hair to work-related stuff to what I should say to a boy. I have her to thank for the successful place I'm at today in my career, because when I was younger, she helped me get into acting. I remember I saw a potato chip commercial, called my mom in the room and was like, 'Mom, can I do that?' She told me, 'OK. I don't really know what to do since nobody else in the family has ever acted.' But we went to some modeling agencies in Florida, and that's where I started doing commercials. To this day, she still drives me to the set, to auditions and even to events. I've been rolling around in my mom's silver Honda minivan since I was 8 years old, and I love it! She's always been very supportive of everything I do, and she really believes in me. My mom is just awesome."

You told us at twitter.com/bopandtigerbeat why you love your mom!

"My mom's laugh is my favorite thing about her. It's signature and so infectious. I love her." — xLilyHoran

"My mom is definitely always so helpful, nice and forgiving. I wouldn't trade her for anything! I LOVE YOU MOM!" — 22jol22

"There are SO many things I love about my mom. I ESPECIALLY love that she buys me Big Time Rush tickets." — LoganatedRusher

My mom rules, too!

Avan Jogia and his mom, Wendy

"I love my mom because she stands by me and is very supportive of what I want to do. When I was 16, I wanted to act, so we went down to Los Angeles, California, from Canada and roughed it out in a trailer behind someone's house."

Ariana Grande and her mom, Joan

"I love my mom because she is amazing. She's like my best friend. I make her breakfast on Mother's Day. I buy raw lavender flowers and put them around the plate."

TAYLOR SWIFT sure knows how to rock her beautiful, curly locks onstage! She really gets into her songs in concert, making for funny pictures like this one.

Dancing Diva

You feel right at home because the dance floor is your throne! Your dance skills are spectacular, and everyone follows your lead.

So-So Smooth

You're all about grooving along to fun music with your buds at the school dance. Having your BFFs around makes dancing so much better!

Time To Tango

Practice makes perfect! It's time to grab that cutie and learn to shake it up on the dance floor together!

Bathroom BLOOPER

My 3-year-old little sister likes me to sleep next to her sometimes, and one time she actually peed the bed... with me in it! It was such a horrible experience. I woke up in the middle of the night because everything was wet. I had to wake her up and get my mom to help clean it up. Let's just say nobody got a good night's sleep, and I'll never snooze with her again!

—Jennifer, SC

Rock and ROLL

My teacher announced our partners for an upcoming project, and I was paired with my crush. I was so surprised that as I rocked back and forth in my chair, I completely fell backward onto the floor! Everyone started laughing, including my crush. I tried to play it cool and laugh it off, but I was mortified.

—Sabrina, TX

Star OMG

"I love spinach dip, and when we go to California Pizza Kitchen, it's my favorite thing there. One time, I ate it and my friend was trying to signal me with her hand, pointing to her teeth, and I'm like, 'What?' She pointed to her teeth again, and I still didn't get it, so she finally had to come out and say, 'Bella, you have spinach in your teeth.' We were with a really big group of people, so it was embarrassing. Luckily, I carry floss with me."

—Bella Thorne

Gym GOOF

In the school gym, I was talking to the guy I like and looking into his eyes when the door swung open and whacked me in the back of the head! He helped me get up, but it was a super awkward moment, because we didn't know whether to laugh or pretend it didn't happen. We both kind of smiled at each other and then slowly walked away. Embarrassing!

—Jenelle, MN

Cafeteria CATASTROPHE

I was walking with a loaded tray of food through the very crowded cafeteria. Apparently, I wasn't looking where I was going because I tripped over my own shoes and fell flat on the floor! I mean like, flat on my stomach with my arms and legs stretched out. My food spilled all over the floor, and my face turned red because EVERYONE was looking. It was such a mess, and now everyone knows me as the girl who fell in the cafeteria.

—Whitney, NY

Slip and SLIDE

I was goofing around with my friends at the park, and I accidentally fell off a swirly slide! I was being silly, but I never intended on falling off the slide — it actually hurt! I had a bruise on my arm for a few weeks afterward and my friends kept teasing me.

—Taylor, WA

Bella Thorne

Bra BUST

My bra totally came unhooked while I was giving a presentation in front of my class. I was standing there and all of a sudden, when I reached across the table to grab my poster, the band snapped! I panicked because it was really noticeable with my white T-shirt. A kid in the front row had a shocked look on his face and his eyes bugged out, so I turned red and ran to the bathroom. My teacher came in shortly after to see if I was OK. She gave me a pin to hold my bra together for the rest of the day.

—Melanie, KS

Notebook NIGHTMARE

My crush, Chris, totally found out I liked him and confronted me about it in school! He said, "I heard you like me?" I was so nervous and shocked that I denied it. But then I realized that I wrote "I love Chris" all over the notebook in my hands. I tried to flip it over, but it was too late, he was staring at it. It was the most humiliating day of my life, and it turns out my little sister is the one who told him in the first place. I'm still SO mad at her!

—Dazza, CO

Bloody MESS

Something totally terrible happened to me at my school dance. I was eyeing my crush from across the room as I danced with a group of friends when suddenly I felt something drip from my nose. My friends gasped, and I realized it was blood when I looked down at my dress. It was everywhere! A chaperone came running over with napkins, so everyone turned their attention to me. Luckily, my friends came with me to the bathroom, but it was still a super embarrassing moment — something my crush will never forget, I bet!

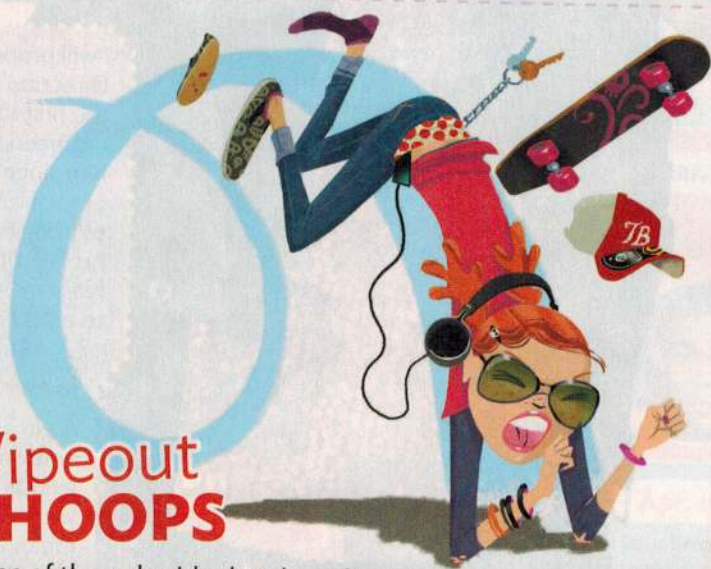

—Isabella, FL

Makeup DISASTER

I tried to put on my own makeup for the first time, and I accidentally used waterproof eyeliner and mascara. When I tried to wash it off before bed, it wouldn't come off. The next morning, I was in a rush to get to school, and since I don't usually wear makeup, I didn't think to glance in the mirror. I was walking down the hallway into school and people started giving me weird looks. I caught a glimpse of my reflection in the glass trophy case and realized the smeared makeup was still on my eyes! I kept scrubbing my face in the bathroom the rest of the day.

—Madi, ID

Wipeout WHOOPS

I was one of the only girls skateboarding at a park, so I wanted to prove that I could keep up with the boys by going around a really sharp corner. As I was coming to the corner, I got too scared and tried to jump off my skateboard. I basically flipped off my board and fell so hard on the cement that my elbows got all scraped up. All the guys started laughing at me.

CRAZIEST CONFESSIONS,
and here they are!
But don't worry ... YOUR SECRETS ARE SAFE WITH US!

My biggest confession is that I pretend I'm How to Rock star Cymphonique's younger sister. I'd love to be her sister! It would be my dream to at least be best friends with her in real life.

— The Great Pretender

I like a boy named Dominick, who is in the grade below me.

I think about him all the time. If my friends knew, they would make fun of me for sure. I hope they never find out!

— Young Lover

I will propose to One Direction's Niall Horan the first time I meet him. I've been mentally dating him since January 2012. One of my vows will be to bring him food from his favorite restaurant, Nando's, when he needs to eat, like, every day.

— Undercover Bride

I'm an 11-year-old, and I secretly have a Twitter account. My parents don't know about it, because I'm not allowed to have one. I need Twitter because it's where I get all of my gossip, besides Tiger Beat, of course!

— Secret Tweeter

I'm dating my best friend's brother behind her back. I go to their house to see him whenever she's somewhere else. I hope she won't get mad if she finds out!

— Best Friend Betrayer

A girl at my school writes down important events and her feelings when someone is mean to her, then she gives the papers to her mom. I started to do the same thing with my dad, but if anyone knew I did this, I think they'd make fun of me!

Karina met Ariana Grande at The Roxy Theatre in Hollywood, California. The Victorious star had her first ever Hollywood concert, and Karina made sure to buy VIP tickets. "We got there early and waited for a really long time," she tells us. "When Ariana showed up for her rehearsal, she noticed her fans standing outside the venue, so she came up to us. I got to meet her twice because when the concert was over, we lined up for the meet and greet. I was so excited! She said hi to me, I complimented her on her performance, and then we took the picture and hugged. This experience was one of a kind, and I will cherish it forever!"
